

Islam & Science

Journal of Islamic perspectives on Science, Civilization, and Intellectual History

SUBMISSION GUIDELINES AND STYLE SHEET

Islam & Science is a peer-reviewed journal. All articles are reviewed before publication; authors are returned reviewer comments and final proofs. Articles published in the journal become the copyright of the Center for Islam and Science. Authors receive one copy of the journal in which their article appears.

Articles: Email an abstract (120-150 words) and key words to journal@cis-ca.org prior to submitting the full article. Complete manuscripts should not be sent unless requested. Research articles should not exceed 8000 words. JIS also publishes shorter topical or polemical pieces. While these do not require abstracts, email journal@cis-ca.org with a description prior to submission.

Reviews: JIS welcomes unsolicited reviews (not exceeding 1500 words) of books recently published in Islamic studies writ large. Email journal@cis-ca.org to request review copies or to propose a lengthier review article.

Fonts: Use the specific JIS fonts available after the abstract has been approved.

Transliteration: Transliteration scheme used by the journal can be downloaded from <http://www.cis-ca.org/pdfs/jis-tr-scheme.pdf>. In general, do not use soft h at the end of an Arabic word (Sīra, not Sīrah) except when in construct form followed by a vowel (Sūrat al-Aḥzāb, not Sūra al-Aḥzāb). One-letter prepositions take elision and hyphenation (wal-qadar, not wa'l-qadar). The initial hamza is dropped.

For Arabic words that have become part of the English language (i.e., are found in major dictionaries), no diacritics are needed except where the word is cited within an Arabic phrase or in a book title. This includes words such as “Allah”, “sura”, and “hadith”. When such a word is used generically, it is lower case.

Be generous with usage of Arabic terms. Provide English equivalents at first use with the Arabic term transliterated and in brackets.

Translation: All translations are expected to be the author’s own, unless otherwise noted.

Translations from the Qur’ān are italicized but not bound by quotation marks. References to the Qur’ān follow the following format: Q sura name:verse number. Thus Q 2:6 refers to the sixth verse of Sūrat al-Baqara.

Citation: JIS follows a modified version of the Chicago Manual of Style (Humanities Style). A bibliography is not required. Sample notes:

1. See Syed Muhammad Naquib al-Attas, Prolegomena to the Metaphysics of Islam: An Exposition of the Fundamental Elements of the Worldview of Islam (Kuala Lumpur: ISTAC, 2001), 25.
2. Abū Mansūr ‘Abd al-Qāhir b. Ṭāhir al-Tamīmī al-Baghdādī, Kitāb Uṣūl al-dīn (Istanbul: Maṭba‘at al-Dawla, 1346/1928), 45.
3. Talal Asad, “Thinking About Agency and Pain” in Formations of the Secular: Christianity, Islam, Modernity (Stanford: Stanford University Press, 2003), 67-99.
4. Al-Attas, Prolegomena, 32.

Dates: Give both Hijrī and Common Era dates for the pre-nineteenth century period. For example: “Abū Ḥanīfa (d. 150/767) agreed...” and “It can be said that after the fifth/eleventh century...”

Units: Use the metric system for all units (kilometres and meters instead of miles and feet, kilograms instead of pounds, etc.).

Do not use superscripts with numbers. For example: 1st and not 1st.